Statement of Activities

On September 12, 2012, Staff received a reply from the City of Pittsfield regarding the outstanding Notice of Probable Violation (NOPV) for 192.465 (a). On January 3, 2013, Staff performed a review of the documentation provided by the operator. The response indicates the segment of cathodically protected coated and wrapped steel piping located on Lakeview Height is currently on the annual cathodic protection survey and is located in Zone #17. This zone has been inspected as required on an annual basis.

The City of Pittsfield further states in the response they are currently in the process of updating the gas system maps to electronic format. The new format will allow the viewer to be able to identify what piping is protected by each cathodic zone. The results of the potential testing performed by the City of Pittsfield on September 10, 2012, indicates the piping is currently under protected status with potential levels reported at -1.55 volts. Due to these findings the outstanding NOPV can be recorded as closed.
